Dear Jay:

NPower NY is a proud partner of Nice Touch Communication's Telecom for Charity program. Since spring 2006, the Nice Touch program has contributed more than $3,000 in support of our workforce program, the Technology Service Corps.

With the generous support of foundations, corporations, and individual donors, NPower NY is able to offer TSC free of charge to young adults from low-income communities who are eager to learn hands-on technology skills and attain living-wage jobs.

Since 2002, TSC has helped over 220 young people more than double their salaries and put them to work in career-ladder jobs throughout the city. TSC also concentrates on teaching students the importance of an active citizenry and has inspired these young leaders to donate their time and to improve NYC by helping nonprofits with their IT. To date, graduates have provided thousands of technology consulting hours to nonprofits, and, through our IT Basic service, remotely manage and support more than 1,000 desktops across four states.

NPower NY's mission is to ensure that all nonprofits can use technology to expand the reach and impact of their services. Our most significant impact is seen in the faces of the people whose lives are improved because technology helped their local nonprofits work more effectively.

We are pleased to work with Nice Touch to help build healthier, more vibrant and sustainable communities, by leveraging the power of IT.

Sincerely,

Barbara Chang
Executive Director
